Program Description

This advanced 3-day program has been expertly designed for experienced team coaches and coach supervisors aiming to enhance their supervisory skills in response to the worldwide shortage of trained team coach supervisors. The program is derived from an EMCC-accredited Coaching Supervision Diploma 3-day module (CSTD).

Individuals eager for ongoing supervision and mentoring can choose to enrol in an additional action learning and supervision group, which meets monthly for a duration of six months.

This virtual program accommodates international participation and is facilitated by the global leaders in the Systemic Team Coaching field, Professor Peter Hawkins, who has been training coaches and coach supervisors for over 20 years, and Dr Catherine Carr, who is an EMCC accredited master team and individual/mentor coach and individual coach supervisor.

This training program is essential for the professional development of both aspiring and seasoned team coach supervisors alike.

“One of the best programmes I have participated in! Thought-provoking, insightful! Anyone involved in team coaching should attend!” - Maria Katsarou-Makin, UK - 2023 graduate

“It was one of the most interesting, challenging and structured programmes I have attended. The course was extremely well organised, truly global in the faculty as well as the participants and I personally really enjoyed the stretch between the inputs by Peter and the faculty on the one side and the high calibre participants on the other. Overall, as superb programme!” - Andrew McKichan, Germany - 2022 graduate

“This was a FANTASTIC training! It brought together all the components of the system and how to create transformation in the moment, anywhere in the system. We did not just learn concepts, we EMBODIED the learning. Masterful training.” - Jessica Srikantia Field, USA, 2023 graduate
