About Dr Hilary Lines

Dr Hilary Lines works with senior executives and their teams, supporting them in creating leadership which inspires and delivers value to their enterprises, their people, their stakeholders and to the world. She has led her own relational coaching business, Touchpoint Leadership, for the past 20 years.

Hilary's coaches in commercial and non-profit sectors and has special experience of working with global professional services firms and religious organisations. She designs and leads bespoke leadership programmes for senior leaders, based on her model of relational leadership, published in 'Touchpoint Leadership: Creating Collaborative Energy across teams and organisations'.

Hilary was a founder faculty member, in 2010, of the Systemic Team Coaching suite of programmes with the Academy of Executive Coaching and Renewal Associates, and continues to these lead programmes across the world. She is co-author, with John Leary-Joyce, of 'Systemic Team Coaching', 2nd edition 2024, and is a qualified coach supervisor.
